

nature. culture. inspiration. connection.

Speaking Events and Workshops with Mark Morey

What is the connection between nature, culture, and resiliency?

Mark Morey, international educator and cultural engineer, is coming to Ontario to speak on the role of nature in creating culture, and sharing methods to consciously create a strong culture of nature connection in education, the home environment, or in the local community.

Mark is the founder of the Vermont Wilderness School, and Institute for Natural Learning. He is a leader in a groundbreaking international movement that connects people, culture, community and nature; called the Art of Mentoring.

Join us, as Mark covers topics including:

- Differences in nature connection vs. nature education
- Tools to empower future generations to understand and care for the environment
- The power of cultural tools such as storytelling, rites of passage and ceremony
- What "Cultural Mentoring" is and the power it has to create change
- International success stories

| Thursday April 14 | Friday April 15 | Saturday April 16 | Sunday April 17 |
|--|--|--|--|
| Toronto | Peterborough | Burlington | Huntsville |
| | | Experiential Workshop: Royal Botanical Gardens, 11am to 4pm | |
| Evening Presentation, Transformative Learning Centre, OISE, U of T. 6-9pm | Evening Presentation, Camp Kawartha Environment Centre, 6-9pm | Evening Presentation, Royal Botanical Gardens, 6-9pm | Experiential Workshop: 1-5pm Location TBD |

To book your space visit www.pineproject.org or call 647 991 7463

Co-sponsored by:

